A SHORTAGE IN NATURAL GAS MEANS BURBANK MIGHT HAVE POWER OUTAGES

Closure of Aliso Canyon Natural Gas Storage means there may not be enough natural gas to operate Burbank's electrical power plant and seventeen other power plants in the Los Angeles basin. Outages may occur at unpredictable times this summer until Aliso Canyon is repaired and operable. BWP may only receive a moment's notice to turn off power to portions of the City.

What You Should do Now to Prepare for Possible Outages this Summer

1

UPDATE CONTACT INFORMATION

Log in to your BWP account online at BurbankWaterAndPower.com and update your contact info to get outage alerts.

2

CONSERVE ENERGY

Visit BurbankWaterAndPower.com to learn how you can start saving energy at your home or business now.

3

KEEP COOL

Locate a cool place you can go in case of a prolonged outage during a severely hot day.

The situation is complex and BWP is working with officials to lessen the impact to Burbank. Working together as a community is the key to getting past this difficult challenge.

CHANGE A LIFE. BECOME A VOLUNTEER.

For one out of five adults in the United States, reading this paragraph is either difficult or impossible.

Twenty percent of adults have trouble with filling out forms, taking the DMV license exam without assistance, helping their children with homework, addressing an envelope, or writing a check.

Attend the tutor training offered by Literacy Services at the Burbank Public Library, and you can make the difference in the life of an adult who reads and writes below an 8th grade level.

For August training details, call 818.238.5577.
